MHI Announces the 2020 Excellence in Manufactured Housing Award Winners

(Washington, D.C., April 15, 2020) — Today, the Manufactured Housing Institute (MHI) announced its 2020 Excellence in Manufactured Housing Award recipients. The annual awards program honors MHI members in the manufactured and modular housing industry who continue to pave the way by providing outstanding products, customer service, creative solutions and state of the art homes.

The winners of this year's MHI Excellence in Manufactured Housing Awards exemplify the determination, commitment and innovative approach that defines our members and industry. This annual honor recognizes leaders from every sector of manufactured housing, including manufacturers, suppliers, communities, retailers, lenders, and designers.

“This year we had over 100 entries from industry partners who are thinking outside of the box to improve the manufactured housing industry,” said MHI President, Mark Bowersox. “This year's award winners show the dedication and expertise that this industry needs as we push forward. On behalf of MHI I'd like to congratulate all of this year's winners.”

The honorees were chosen by their peers and an independent panel of experts for their leadership and dedication to the manufactured housing industry throughout the last year. MHI is honored to showcase their products and their companies. Here are this year's Excellence in Manufactured Housing Award winners, listed by category:
